COUNCIL-APPROVED MONEY EARNING PROJECT

When a troop finds it necessary to supplement the troop account for special trips/events, through a troop money-earning event, it is necessary to become familiar with GSUSA and GSCNC policies, standards and standard guidelines before planning a fund raising project.

Council approval is required from the service unit manager at least two weeks before the proposed money-earning event.

Safety-Wise (copywrite 2000, Chapter 3), provides groups/troops with specific guidance to be used in planning and doing money-earning activities. (See also Safety-Wise updates for revisions at <http://www.gscnc.org/publications.html>) In addition other Program Standards govern group activities. GSUSA AND GSCNC require that troop and/or group money-earning activities will be program based and will not involve sale of a commercial product or games of chance or lottery.

Resale of commercial products with logos or labeling REMOVED may be sold. (Example: Commercial mulch removed from its original packaging may be sold.)

GSCNC Standard - "Money-earning activities should be a valuable program activity for girls. Daisy Girl Scouts do not participate in troop money-earning activities."

POLICY: "All fund raising methods employed by Girl Scout groups must be in keeping with the principles for which the organization stands."

GSUSA Standard: "Girl Scouts, in their Girl Scout capacities, may not solicit money for other organizations. Girl members may support other organizations. Girl members may support other organizations only through service projects."
